I. GENERAL INFORMATION

A. MISSION AND STRUCTURE OF HARVESTWORKS, INC.

Founded by artists in 1977, Harvestworks supports the creation and presentation of art works achieved through the use of new and evolving technologies. For the last twenty-nine years we have offered artists on-site recording studios, workshops and classes in emerging technologies. Harvestworks has become a national media arts center commissioning and producing work by composers, choreographers, writers and film, video and visual artists experimenting with technology in the production of art.

Harvestworks' central activity is the creation of new work, and all our programs are designed to support different aspects of the creative process from conception to presentation. Our core program, the Creative Residencies Program, commissions artists and supports them through the production process with a wide array of digital media equipment, and the assistance of expert engineers. Sponsored Projects gives financial, administrative, and production assistance to artists, sponsors their applications for grants from private and public funders, and helps the artists find venues for their work. Listen In, is a program of concerts, lectures, seminars, conferences and exhibitions featuring innovative artists who integrate advanced technology into their work. The presentations take place in our studios and in collaboration with other organizations. This program has developed an expanding audience, and we also stimulate public interest and critical discussion of the changing relationships between art and technology through focused conferences and symposia. In 2005/6 we began to consolidate our Education and Production Services programs into a new entity called Project Management. This move reflects the artists' changing needs. In the 90s, artists needed access to equipment and instruction in the new commercial digital software. As artists mastered digital practice and as sophisticated production equipment became cheaper, artists began to need expert advice and technical engineering during their creative process. Project Management is more personal in its response to the artist's need, offering referrals to engineers, to classes and tutorials, to our studios, and other resources. This year Project Management has expanded into a complementary virtual manifestation—a Web based Reference Library (currently available in prototype on our Website offering demonstrations, tutorials and problem solving forums of practical use to artists all over the country. Our studios are among the best multi-media Production Studios in the city and we offer artists low cost rentals and high-quality engineers to create, edit and record their work.
